Mr. and Mrs.
Joseph W. Timberlake, Jr.

The inexhaustable enthusiasm, the sincere concern, the open door on Beverley Street and the warmth inside: all these we've encountered and appreciated.
Who else could handle a family of 104 girls plus Tim? Too outstanding an example, too rich a friendship, to be forgotten or unrecognized. Here: another thank you for being who they are-and what they represent-to the College community and especially to the Class of 1965.

Tim, Penny, Vicky, Robyn

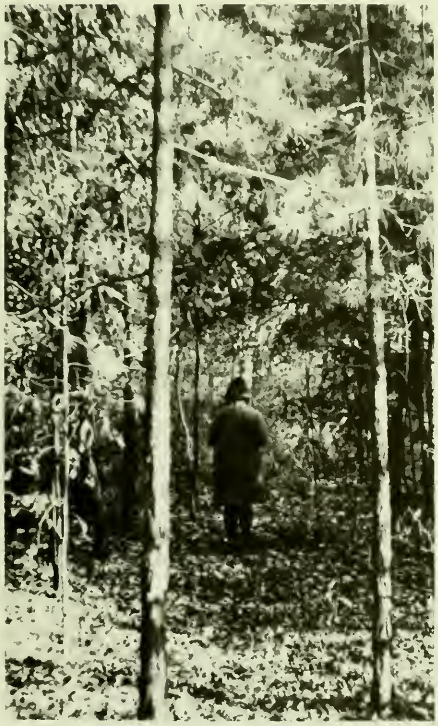
Last minute facial for a yellow brick city before the onslaught of S.G.A. officers, freshmen and upperclassmen. Unpacking, confusion and crowded aloneness. A moment of hesitation before preparation begins. Anticipation is transformed into the buzz of September with its quiet regret and smiling eagerness. Greetings, mail-box assignments, vacant spaces and new eyes. Left-over suntans, but fresh minds. Dawn and new beginnings.

Autumn and fallen leaves. Sunlight and shadows. Leaves - sprinkling the green lawn with flakes of color. Walks take a jagged path over rocks and tree stumps. Leaves - crisping beneath hurried feet. Exhilaration. The noise of a football game and the silence of aloneness. Leaves - shuffled along by weary feet. Autumn, the season of adolescence and old age. Autumn and fallen leaves.



The October day that only the sophomores know for sure...when it's legitimate to hitchhike, wear jeans off campus, poach on private property...no classes, just sophomore skits, climbing trees, taking pictures, and lunch a la Tom Jones (or Henry VIII)...home again, home again jiggity jig with a laundry bag full of apples and roses—rather, apples in the cheeks—jiggity jog..."an apple a day" for days on end.

MBC's fall drama production...playwright—Margaret Collins...practical education for the majors. Tour—Covington and Wayside Inn. Wings of a stage where smaller, sometimes funnier, sometimes more tragic plays occur...a mystic transition that takes place in an actor as he walks from wings to stage—and leaves himself—behind. Theatre: the vibrating string hung between audience and actor, which the actor plucks....fantasy...reality...final applause—you take your being off with cold cream and a kleenex, go up to the stage—dark and quiet—you wonder if it ever really happened—Theatre. "Come to our Carnival of Lights."

"Who do you know...?"

"Please don't tell Mother I was here."

"Listen, girl–you're not much as a blind date, either!"

The progression from mixers and blind dates to days-out and over-nights to pins to rings and things. Mass exodus on big week-ends...football games...fraternity parties: a menagerie of birds, monkeys, dogs, fish...with "just a friend." A choice between Crafton's, a flick, or pool in upper-back..."he said he'd phone on Thursday."

At first some of us rebelled against the required course situation...

But the enforced cooperation proved less painful than expected...

First period—Schedule C

"I don't know WHEN I'll find time to get all my work done."

And we emerged well-rounded, polished Baldwin seniors.

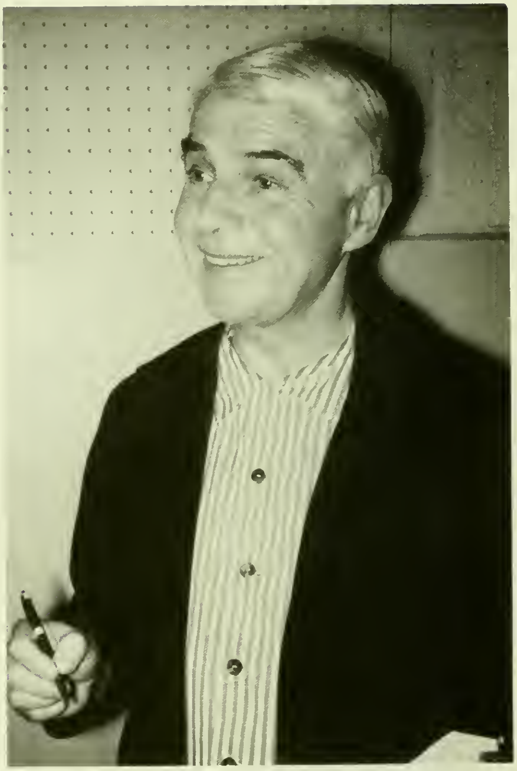
"After all, what am I here for?" From the particulars to universals...the eternal verities...the eternal questions... who, why, how. Break time: a 5-minute hand of bridge, a 10-minute cigarette, a 30-minute television show, a 60-minute meal, a 3-hour date. "Where are your books? - that light bequeathed to Beings else forlorn and blind."

9:00—study religion
9:15—start packing

...first thing you do is get organized.

Steps which lead to sunlight, to patterns, to grass and yellow brightness. Yes, of course, the brave crusade up the Bailey steps....A thoughtful moment on the way to the trough. Steps which lead you where you want to go—up, down, nowhere, mundane places, Academic, solitude, downtown, meals, visits. mailboxes....Many steps and many choices. Steps: which way do you want to go?

Slices of light and life, footsteps, and another day. A carousel of moments speeds tangled feet from dorm to doorstep—moments of quiet reflection or frantic laughter. Beginnings and endings. Daily "traumas" and new growth. Spontaneity spills out in every corner. Smiles and frowns play seesaw upon the ground of emotions. A trip, a toast, a chapel talk—all transient portions of this academic life.



Art: exhibitions in Straw Corner...spring shows by senior majors...sale of prints from a gallery... Staunton Fine Arts Center—art and photography.

Music: choir, an appreciation and listening hour in Hunt Lounge, a Folk Mass, majors' recitals.

Drama: major productions, Reader's Theatre, Medieval Church plays with choir, spring patio play, Theatre Group 20, Emlyn Williams and Dickens readings, Peter Arnott and puppets.

Visiting scholars, King Series handed to us, Religious Emphasis Week, convocations—opportunities made available—need: intellectual curiosity. Culture: sometimes "a taste of honey," other times "a taste of liquor never brewed."

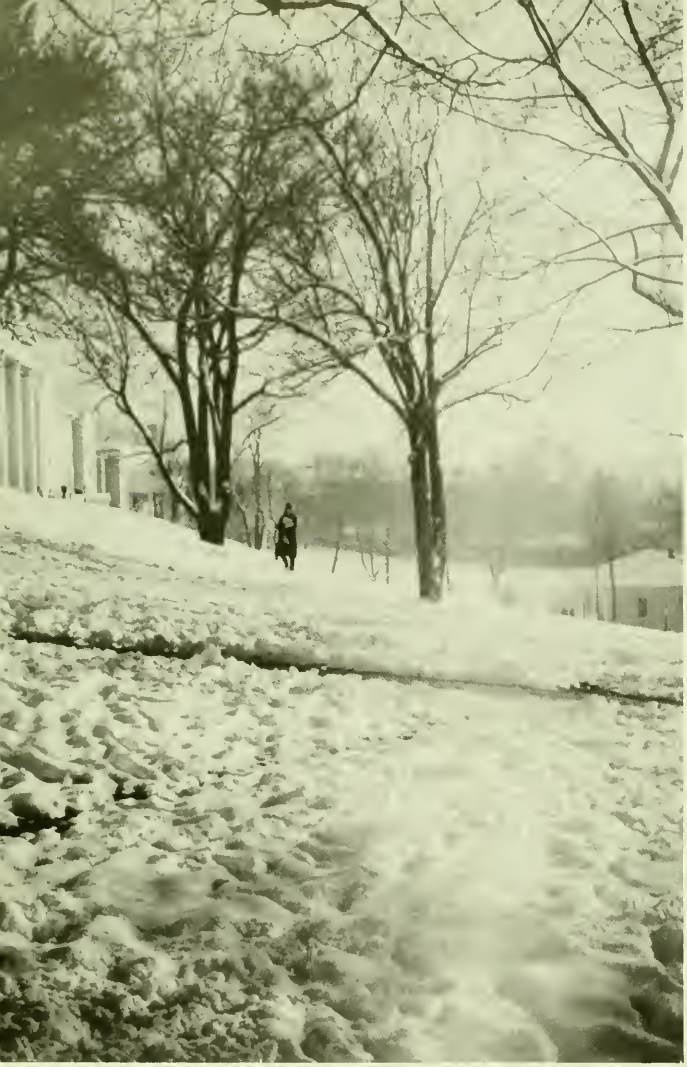
Anticipation, preparation and secrets mixed with tests, term papers and packing...an off-campus dance featuring The Delacardos and one o'clocks...25-cent gifts, poems, and a Santa at every dorm party...Christmas dinner by candlelight...caroling...when the world is lit with love and served a dish of party-colored candy..."What shall I give...?"

"Don't clutch, Sue, but I think there's mistletoe up there."

There's nothing like the good ol' Christmas spirit.

The Dance



Flakes of surprise and delight...slacks and continuous questioning of "when?" SMA and snowball fights and garbage can cover sled riding... .The feel of snow falling on any open hand and into eye lashes and mouths and hair. A white, awesome silence. Remnants of green and brown patches...and cats in the snow. An early morning "hello" to the workmen as they shovel. Breakfast and hot chocolate. A white stillness settles, but soon it begins to melt into spring.

Staunton: familiarity of places and people—“hello” on the street. A glimpse of true love and confessions “through a glass darkly.... Flowers and friends.... Stores of fashion, and stores of delight. A ten-cent store through which to rummage on a rainy afternoon. An impressionistic painting in blacks and red and green and yellow and rain, as seen from MBC's patio at night. Downtown—a possibility for communication, for a taste of reality...

Anything on an impulse...or a dare. Anticipating the memories ten years from now...where's a camera? Lounge rendevous reveal hidden talents, idiosyncracies, eccentricities... Boarders abroad but at home in memories...one transatlantic phone call per semester: "hi and bye"...let's all write her a letter. Academic Year in Madrid: Ludmilla Bratina, Jeanne Crusemann, Kathie Fife, Michael Gisriel, Cissy Gossmann, Rosita Libenson, Peggy Mitchell, Penney Phifer, Betty Jean Smith, Serita Spadoni, Betty Swope, Susanne Vance. France: Sally Marks, Joan Goolsby, Claudia Turner, Janet Weaver, Ellen Gordon. "It won't be long..."

"My mother went here. What's your excuse?"

"Frankly..."

"Well, Chaucer, it was nice talking to you."

Words and smiles and a language that transcends the human voice. The "chats." Brief pauses in a busy day. "What have you been thinking about?" Sharing and communicating. Words - either a funnel or a prism for our thoughts.

"Sorry...you'll just have to get wet."

Quiet hour, beds made by 10:30, phone duty, no showers after 12, bi-weekly meetings: bring a pencil and/or a quarter. The lounge: "Who's got a match?"..."fourth for bridge"... popcorn, knitting, Saturday Night at the Movies in front of the tube. The chats: "I've got a great idea" ...How exciting"..."I can't believe..."..."Yeah, tell me about it"... "I'm furious." Phone pad ditties: Tues. - 9:30 - Ann - B.C.,N.M.,W.C.B. - Susan. What shall it be tonight, "cosmology or cosmetology?"–to hawk or to rack, that is the question. "Make sure I get up tomorrow morning."

MBC: rolling green, believable blue sky and yellow. Excursions: alone or together, into nature. Strong winds brushing joy at faces. Autumn and leaves and picnics and gleeful "splendor in the grass." A wonder and yet a quiet assurance...Through fingered branches a woodland fantasy, and a reality. A smile of fresh air...Nature is always there - a place to read, a place apart, a place to be.

The drive began and ended with unbelievable spirit and enthusiasm. A car wash: brillo pads, soap suds and wet "bods." Apple butter, by the quart. Unity. The year saw: a "happening" in Riddle, a discotheque, Katydids, and hamburgers. Co-operation. Green stamps, breakfast in bed and a slave auction. Hard work and Jean. Shindig, bazaars, an evening of sacred music, and the carnival. A feeling of accomplishment. One third of a million pennies toward a new library.

Faces which express an intensity, an immensity, of curiosity...of indecision... of perception...of sensitivity. A hand yet unraised, but eyes which already question, which challenge. Patience...Thought - yes...intellectual at times. But often too silent the stillness, too silent the aloneness.

The Women

Days and nights of work and quarterlies and wondering and doubting and rehearsing for perfection. "Practically nobody ever misses a clever woman." The results were superb, the audience enthusiastic. After the last curtain call; a sense of superiority, accomplishment, of earning a place at last through talent and diligence. Sophomore Show: a class becomes unified through cooperation, by The Night, by memories. "A woman's life is love, and life must be ev'ry day."

Judish where?

Necessary regulation covering concentric circles of the campus, the 25-mile radius, the 40-mile distance to Charlottesville and Lexington...the individual integrity...follow A and B except in cases C and D, and when in doubt, consult the handbook...what to wear and where ...slacks here, skirts there...“I should care (and I do!)”...government of students by students.

Improper dress?

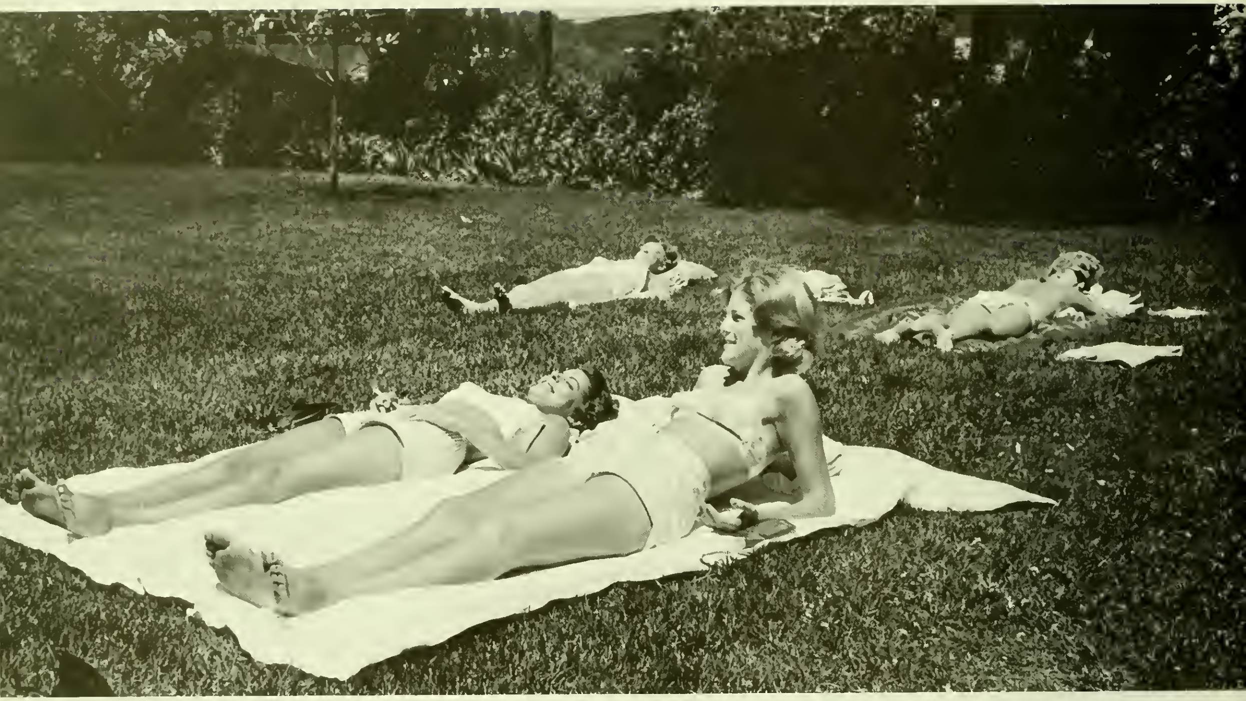
"Smells nasty—I prefer milk!"

A search for truth. Hours of self-discipline. Essential knowledge. The struggle for intellectualism - both pseudo and real. Long nights. Quarterlies. Exams and a sigh. "...of making many books there is no end; and much study is a weariness of the flesh." But always a search for truth and the beginning of understanding.



A rare thing is each new spring. A time of soft winds and delicate sky. Pink and green spring up from moist black loam and splash across the earth, heralding a new season, a new birth. Infant leaves throw lace patterns across the grass and provide seclusion for new-born fledglings. "A young man's fancy." Dreams renewed. Sun and warmth. Earth rejoicing. Wisteria clusters climb and twine their way up lattice fences. Daffodils fleck the hillsides with yellow smiles. A cataract of moist wind sweeps through the valley in multicolored laughter.

STAUNTON

June seventh drew nearer and the sun grew warmer. Finally, it even stayed sunny on weekends. Long and lazy afternoons, flower-filled mornings, cool evenings by an icy stream. Crowded calendars: May Day; picnics for the majors, and for the classes; comps and the Banquet; drawing for tooms; planning for weddings and jobs and graduate school. And all as a golden early-summer light filtered across tangled forsythia and the lush stretch of green grass across the hill.

Administration
and # Faculty

Look back across a college generation, and four years telescope into an incredibly short time. But despite the brief span, the Mary Baldwin of September, 1961 and that of June, 1965 are not the same.

These things, for example, are not: Six hundred fifty girls now climb the steps that four hundred fifty climbed then. The green grass stretches across our hillside from New Street east to Coalter, and Bailey is no longer "off campus". In the ledger space called Total Assets, the auditor writes $5,990,361, almost twice the figure he recorded four years ago. And this June, for the first time, Dr. Taylor will marshal more than a hundred seniors into the Commencement procession as it leaves the Mirror Room.

But the happy paradox about a college is that it can change without changing. In four years it grows, as it must grow, but the most important things remain. That is why, for this class and for its daughters through the years, Mary Baldwin will be always and never the same.

A rung up the ladder; a place, a pie in the sky and the bid was made with an oval black onyx - a sign of arrival. Aloofness and the strangers and an early feeling of time's passing - but a look ahead and beyond to new responsibilities - a new freedom.

Now a new reserve of self assurance. Lower classmen to show the way to town, Vinegar Hill, and Rugby Road - roads to sociability. A role which calls for a middle-man between old and new.

A ripe full fall and a chance to endulge in Eve's fruit. Spring and a chance to perform in show business.

A year of pretend sophistication matured into a year of "I'm not so sure."

"Leslie, why must there always be this distance between us?"

House Presidents', Junior Advisors', lettered encouragements. Finally they come - footlockers, skirt hangers, and new near-sophistication - wondering about "woman's dreams" and "high endeavor." Wide-eyed and refreshingly eager, they struggle through motorability and Independent Reading tests. A week of orientation thrusts them into the academic community and they're off - into the small yet expanding world of yellow buildings.

Years of tears and laughter. A time of new beginnings.

Soph Week Includes Parents Day

by Claire Livermore

Why do some Mary Baldwin girls wear yarn dolls, evacuate the dorm every night for two weeks. talk in whispers in little groups. and reserve whole tables for guests on Saturday night?

The best explanation to this phenomenon is that the week of Feb. 22-27 is Sophomore Week at MBC. The week began on Monday when all sophomores appeared on campus wearing yarn dolls in the class colors of green and white. The purpose of the class symbol is to remind people that this is a special week for the Class of 1967.

Thursday morning, sophomore Barbara Schuler was the speaker in Chapel. Barbara was asked to speak by the officers of her class, headed by president, Nancy Falkenberg.

Today the parents of sophomores will begin to arrive from as far away as Arkansas and Florida. Nancy stated that the guest list is expected to exceed 190 parents and relatives.

A special dinner will be given in Hunt Hall at 6 p.m. Saturday. Sophomores and their parents will be seated on one side of the dining hall.

The highlight of the weekend will be the presentation of the play The Women, by Clare Boothe Luce, at 8 p.m. in King Auditorium.

Immediately after the show the class will sponsor a reception in Hunt Hall for the guests who attended the show.

Sayre Explores Man's Freedom

Posing the question "Is Freedom Possible?", Dr. Woodrow Wilson Sayre, former professor of philosophy at Tufts University, was welcomed to the native city of his grandfather, President Woodrow Wilson, as he spoke at Mary Baldwin Wednesday, Feb. 24.

Dr. Sayre, a lecturer on the Visiting Scholar Program, discussed whether man and his actions can be free, or whether they are merely the product of his physical and psychological circumstances.

His first consideration was the nature of "Freedom". He observed that a child is not free because he does what he is told; But when an adolescent believes that he has become free when he acts just opposite to what his parents wish, he is wrong. He is a slave, because his decisions are predetermined in reverse — his parents still cause his actions by their actions.

Dr. Sayre then discussed the interrelationship of freedom and slavery in Greek and Christian thinking. Freedom in both cases can be obtained by one's enslaving himself to a greater cause. The Practicing a scene from Clare Boothe Luce's "The Women" are Sophomores Susan Massie, l., Leith Stigler, Susan Palmer, Frances Wise, and Hope Allen. The play will be presented Saturday in King Auditorium in connection with Sophomore Week.

Curtain Rises Tomorrow On Sophomores' 'Women'

"The Women," a farce by Clare Boothe Luce will be presented by the Sophomore class tomorrow night in King Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Director of the show, Ginny Beasley, explained that one of the unusual features of this play is the fact that there are no male characters. The cast consists of 40 women, who represent every imaginable type of female in the world.

When the curtain rises Saturday night, Susan Palmer and Jennifer Cox will star as the protagonist and "the other woman", respectively. Before they go on stage a crew of stage hands will have made all ready for the performance. The "make-up men" will make sure that everyone in the cast is covered with the correct shade of pancake make-up and the right amount of eye shadow. The "wardrobe men" will then check to see that each character has on the appropriate costume for Act I, Scene One.

There are assorted other parts for dancers, singers, and models. The sophomores have written the songs themselves and have worked out choreography for musical numbers.

Sophomore Kathy Myers, who has been writing lyrics for show songs, is also the producer of the show.

Margie Clark is the stage manager for the production. She has supervised the gathering and construction of all the scenery for the play.

When the models appear in the scene at the dressmaker's, the girls will be wearing dresses borrowed for the play from the New York Dress Shop in Staunton.

The Tigertones, a singing group from Princeton University, will entertain tomorrow afternoon in King Auditorium. Tickets are 75 cents. The group is being presented by Hill Top Dormitory with proceeds going to the Library Fund.

Bursar Reports New Bank Hours

The student bank is now open on Wednesdays and Fridays from 10 a.m. to 12 noon in addition to the regular hours, Mr. James T. Spillman, bursar of the college, has announced.

In response to some dissatisfaction with the Macke Vending Machines, Mr. Spillman said that although five-cent candy bar production is being discontinued by major manufacturers, five-cent cheese crackers will be put in all machines. He also stated that the ice in the drink machines will be more evenly distributed, and that the machines will be serviced more frequently.

Mr. Spillman suggested "that future complaints be directed to this office, so that we can follow through and see that the vending company provides the necessary service."

Press Announces Poetry Contest

The National Poetry Press invites all college students to submit verse for consideration for the annual Anthology of College Poetry.

The student's name, home address and college must be typed or printed on each entry submitted, and the closing date for submission of manuscripts is April 10. Mail all entries to National Poetry Press, 3210 Selby Ave., Los Angeles 34, Calif.

During the past 10 years, students throughout the country have submitted over 100,000 manuscripts, of which about 10,000 have been published. Since space is limited, more favorable consideration is given to shorter poems.

CA Presents Discussions On 'Rights'

The Christian Association will sponsor a series of talks and discussions on "A Christian's Stake in Human Relations" March 4-11.

The Rev. Bruce Hanson, Assistant to the Executive Director of the Commission on Religion and Race of the National Council of Churches, will speak in chapel March 4 to begin consideration of the theme.

On March 9 the Reverend F. Wellford Hobbie, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Staunton, will continue on this subject.

A panel discussion on March 10 will be the third look at "A Christian's Stake in Human Relations". Included on the panel will be Dr. Alan Geyer, associate professor of political science and an ordained Methodist minister; Mr. Hobbie, Ann Alexander, and Mary Lewis.

See EDITORIAL, P. 2

On March 11 the Christian Association house representatives will give devotions on the subject.

The Rev. Mr. Hanson, who will begin the series, officially joined the Commission in September of 1964. Prior to his appointment, while on temporary leave of absence from his duties as Assistant Pastor of the First Congregational United Church of Christ in Washington, D.C., he served the Commission as Summer Projects Director with responsibility for coordination of orientation and training programs established to prepare students, ministers and lay volunteers for work in Mississippi during the summer of 1964.

A graduate of Amherst College and Union Theological Seminary in N.Y., the Rev. Mr. Hanson was the recipient of many awards and fellowships. He lived in Japan in 1959-1960 as an Amherst-Doshisha Fellow, teaching at Doshisha University and representing his alma mater throughout that country.

The Residence Halls

Hill Top

Centrally located surveyor and observer—the most temperamental water fountain: X marks the stepping spot for action.

Recalcitrant radiators, too...how much is a quart of home-made apple butter worth?

"Got a match?" "Come see the Tigertones!" Turning their own special spirit into results for the library and special memories for the residents.

Memorial

Snow balls from the street. A sunset—silhouetted bell tower.

Dorm meetings in the hall—phone duty under the steps. Last vestige of the covered way...

May Court majority. Pin-fever, knitting fanatics, "what is that aroma from under the dorm?"

"Hello, Dairy-Rite? Don't forget 36 superburgers for Hallabaloo sustenance..."

McClung

Convenient cat-haven and pigeon palace—not just like home, but undoubtedly home. Forgotten attic treasures, inch-thick with dust. The annual Christmas party for Mildred and family...6:30 simultaneity of sun-rise, stars and moon.

Spy-spot on Saturday nights. And the bad weather route to academic and King Building.

The only real trauma; when the bell system went berserk.

Riddle

Creativity, intellectual curiosity. Nightly "Happenings" with a jug, band, guitars—free expression...philosophic lounge lizards and incense and ouija board conferences and the arts.

No quiet hour or phone duty—individual responsibility... church bells, children...interpretive dorm devotions—

"A refuge from the stormy blast, and our eternal home."

La Maison Francaise

Featuring Miss Guestault, French, a sunning roof, French, a full-fledged kitchen, French, clever greetings from SMAs passing by, and...

La Maison Francaise: by foreigners, we mean the girls from other dorms.

And it's still the "Rose Terrace" sunbathing haven—home of disobedient tennis balls and the outdoor cafe.

Mais oui!

Woodson

First-floor ferment of signing out, soap operas, SGA hamburger projects, ping-pong. Time out in the meditation room to give a soul the floor.

Full length mirrors in every room...an unimpeded view of Betsy Bell.

Mr. Pedersen cooking soup for lunch in the kitchen. "This lounge is closed for two weeks!...result: claustrophobia on the first floor.

Sardine-sunbathing.

Spencer

MBC's “Hilton” complete with study rooms and a bomb shelter. Grass, at last...

Car washes and bazaars and the lounge by Christmas tree light.

Adventure: being “stuck” on the elevator or meeting the Macke-Man in a night gown!

“Mr. LaFleur, you'll have to use the other lounge...”

The Baileys

Where "North" and "South" are one: mutual lounge, mutual sunbathing—interaction and interdependence. The "hill" or 72 steps. The heating plant hum versus the hum of voices on Bailey porch. Interesting intruders: the psychology department, lawn mowers and youthful squeals from the nursery school.

And two TV's to alleviate Shindig congestion. Gruesome phone duties. And it's fun to watch the "outsiders" get lost.

"215"

Who wouldn't love the outside line—the no-phone-duty—talking in the halls after 7:15?

The Big Nine who love to laugh and talk and share. Friendship in group is the group. Betty Crockers and —since Nancy got her car—Lowell Thomases.

Off campus? Not really...

Gooch House

Another senior house with eleven independents–proximity to history. No dorm president, but a chairmanship which rotates each quarter.

Reception place for dates...Christmas open house for the faculty. No quiet hour–but consideration. Sponsors of the famous and infamous Faculty Slave Auction.

Blakely

Four on the second-floor. And that's just the beginning. Closeness that's lasted and deepened over the past years.

The door that's violently allergic to wind...and the cookies from Miss Parker.

TB

Edmundson

Off campus but still yellow and still very much MBC—located for better or for worse near SMA... but thoughtful serenades by SMAs.

Sophomore living on the senior level. Totally deserted during rehearsal for the Show.

Not-really isolation, leading to real closeness—living room chats and adventures in the kitchen.

Little House

Tradition and privacy. Daughter of the French House... overseer of the tennis court. A nucleus of activity—the house by the side of the road.
"Junior Haven."

Bell House

Not the least bit anesthetized—the corner of the world. A refuge and a gathering place...Stepping stones...wet leaves in fall and blossoms in spring...

A quarter of a mile to convocation.

Sum it all up? Looking back it seems as though the year won't stand still long enough to let us. It's too dynamic—and too full. The friendships, the weekends, the traumas, the pierced ears. "Thou wast born of dreams, Mary Baldwin, Mary Baldwin." Betsy Bell in autumn brilliance, in winter starkness, in spring—green freshness. Gruesome hours in the library, breaks at Straw Corner, the library drive. "If I don't get some mail tomorrow..." Quarterlies, term papers, exams, quarterlies, term papers, exams. Lexington: 34 miles. New ideas and changed attitudes and developed perspectives. To borrow the phrase: "progress is our most important product." Progress as students, as women, as people. There certainly were times for many of us when it seemed as though we'd reached an impasse (on really bad days there was little argument that we'd regressed). But in a longer view the disappointments and frustrations and anxieties fade into the shadows—and the spotlight falls on the steps taken forward. For the Class of '65, this long view stretches over four years—and how can there be any doubt that we progressed since 1961 on the Hill Top porch? And there is little doubt that we're many smiles, many thoughts, many hours, many encounters, many books, many beautiful days, many phone duties, many overnights, and many decisions closer to fulfilling the potential that belongs to each of us.

It's been a swarm of impressions and of experiences and of lessons. A year that stands very much by itself—and at the same time so linked to the years behind it and so caught up already into the years to come. In terms of analogies: a metamorphosis, a kaleidoscope of tradition, yesterday, now, "not for time but for eternity." There is no way to gather it all up into 280 pages. Then again, no group of words and pictures could capture it all. We each have our own personal store of memories—that The Bluestocking can be but a glimpse and a reminder is a tribute to the richness—and the diversity—of our life on the hill.
